E. Fraser: Advisor

A group of students interested in newspaper work meet once a week for assignments and in their free time write up and publish a monthly paper of approximately twenty pages called the Amplifier and a weekly single sheet paper called the Amplifier, Jr. This year the circulation has been 425 weekly and 800 monthly. The monthly Amplifier is distributed to the grade school students as well as the high school.

The policy of this paper is to acquaint all students with activities, class functions and sports. The Amplifier is also a mainstay in building up school spirit.

Much credit for the success of the papers should be given to the editors in-chief, Marion Heacock, Mae Briggs and Beatrice Valentine, who have given a great deal of their time to these publications.

The Junior High School Journalism Club is a new organization this year. The members are students from grades seven through nine who are interested in learning to write for school publications.

The following officers were elected:

President	Genevieve Ward
V. President	Ed Way
Secretary	Beverly Van Keuren

The club meets once a week to receive writing assignments. At one of the first meetings the members voted to call their organization, "The Pen Pusher's Club."

Two social meetings, a Christmas party and a Valentine party have been held in addition to the regular meetings.

The girls who work in the Library deserve a great deal of credit for the services they render to the school. Two or three girls work each period of the day. One takes care of the charging desk, checking books in and out and answering general questions, while the others do various tasks such as putting books in place on the shelves, mending, re-enforcing magazines, typing book pockets and cards, arranging bulletin boards and book displays, or doing anything else within their ability. Their help in taking care of routine work is especially valuable because the librarian can supervise them and, at the same time, assist students and teachers in finding books and materials they need to use.

Several girls left the staff at the beginning of the second semester to go to work at the Chrysler Plant. Their places have been taken by Mary Bowman, Dorothy Molstead, Phyllis Limberg, and Elinor Van Camp.

The High School Library has a collection of approximately 2700 books to which new ones are constantly being added. It also has many slides, pamphlets and pictures, and subscribes to about thirty magazines and a newspaper. When we do not have sufficient information about a subject or when we do not have a certain book that is needed, the St. Clair County Library is always ready to serve us. In back of this is the State Library at Lansing.

Special instruction on how to find desired information in books, magazines, and other materials is given to various classes throughout the year in order to help students to become more familiar with their library.

Members of this Society are chosen from the students of the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades who have attended Marysville High for one year or more and have maintained at least a 2.70 (almost a B) average. These students are rated by the faculty and the active members of the Local Chapter of the Society on the qualities of Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service. They are considered in the order of their final rank, but no student may be accepted who has an average rating of less than 2.70. Those who are elected are particularly to be commended because the high standards which must be met demand the best a person can give.

Some time in March the Local Chapter sponsors an Honors Assembly for the school. The purpose is three-fold; new members are invited to join, scholastic honors of the Senior Class are announced, and cards of commendation are presented to all students of the Junior and Senior High School who have maintained a "B" average since the last Honors Assembly.

The new members are: Genevieve Ditty, Nancy Ferris, and Donald Lotermoser, Erma Manfrin, Jack McFarlane, Joanne Stevens, and Lillian Veen.

Senior Scholastic honors were won by Mary Sturdevant and Joyce Herr.

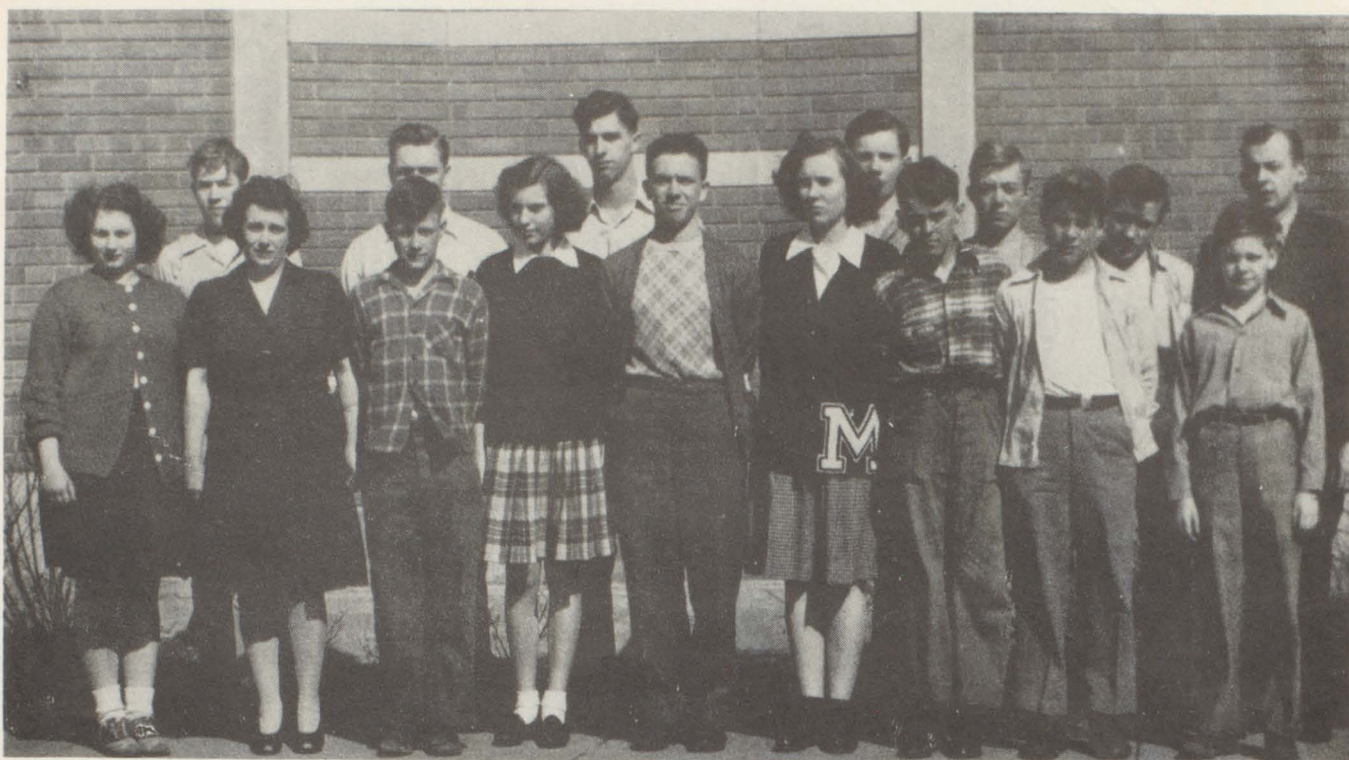

Those who had "B" averages are:

Mary Brinkerhoff	Don Richards	Phyllis Limberg	Phyllis Johns
Helen Burns	Rita Siemen	Marilyn McCartney	Carolyn Johnson
Douglas Hanna	Ilif Van Camp	Dorothy Molstead	Jane Kersten
Rosemarie Prescott	Phyllis Barr	Mary Saunders	John Martin
Barbara Ward	Robert Becker	Donald Van Curler	Doris Van Curler
Dean Bubel	Norma Cosgrove	Genevieve Ward	Eileen McLaren
Marilyn Chesnut	Virginia Davis	Gerald Westbrook	Robert Schon
Dorothy DeLand	Barbara Hardman	Eileen Bradley
Lois Ann Gregory	Robert Kersten	William Hanks

The Good Citizenship pin of the Daughters of the American Revolution was awarded to Virginia Osentoski.

The big events of the Honor Society year are the annual fall party for new senior members, the Honors Assembly, the spring banquet for alumni and new members, and the initiation services for the new members.

The school council is an elective group for the general purpose of working toward a desirable standard of citizenship in all school activities. School parties, assemblies, movies and other social activities are sponsored by the council.

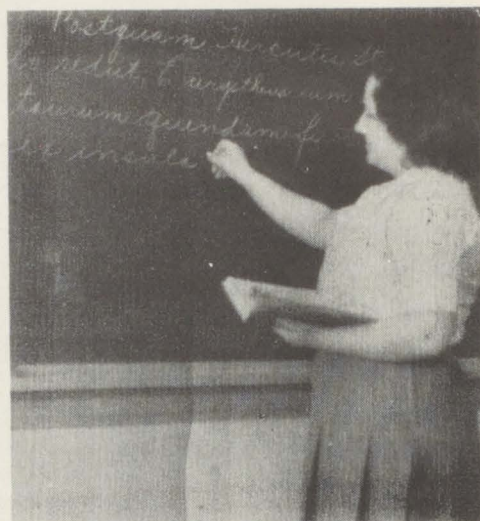

Each class elects three members to the council; it's president, a girl representative, and a boy representative.
